

Contents

Introduction: Modernism as an Ethos	9
I “Violent Structure of Adolescent Clearness”: Wyndham Lewis’s Vorticism and the Art-Punk of Wire	39
II The Demonology of Progress: Un-Radical Modernism and Non-Moral Satire	75
III An “Antynomy of Opposite Principles”: Englishness and the Practicological Approach in the Historiographies of British Art and Pop	133
IV How to Survive in an Artless World: From Wyndham Lewis’s Machine-Personae to David Bowie’s Artist-as-Artificer	183
V Personality as Surface	223
Conclusion: The Moronic Inferno of Modernity	279
Bibliography	287
Illustrations	297
Illustration Credits	321
Index	324