

Contents

Introduction

The Technical Dimension of Action — 3

- 1 Basic Orientation: Approaching the Composition of Action — 3
- 2 Ricœur and Social Theory — 5
- 3 Ethics and Means in Ricœur. A Preliminary Exploration — 9
 - 3.1 Efficacy, without Abandoning Ethics — 9
 - 3.2 An Ethics of Limited Violence — 12
 - 3.3 With and Against Ricœur — 15
- 4 A Contribution to Interpretive Social Theory — 15
 - 4.1 Part 1: The Technicity of Action: Capabilities and Means — 17
- 5 The Heat of Action — 21
 - 5.1 Part 2: Finding Compromises in Practice — 24
- 6 Intermediary Reflexion and Conclusion: Towards an Integrated Theory of the Technicity of Action — 27

Part 1: The Technicity of Action: Capabilities and Means

Chapter 1: The Effectiveness of Symbols: Mediology and Hermeneutics — 33

- 1 Introduction — 33
- 2 Enter Mediology — 34
- 3 The Technical Milieu and the World of Technology — 36
 - 3.1 Transmission and Communication — 37
 - 3.2 Transmission in the Mnemosphere — 38
 - 3.3 Clothes: Transmission and Understanding — 41
 - 3.4 No Mediology without Hermeneutics. No Milieu without a World — 42
- 4 Autonomy and Appropriation — 45
 - 4.1 Discourse as Action — 46
 - 4.2 Autonomy and the Effectiveness of Symbols — 47
 - 4.3 On Reception: Reading Texts and Artefacts — 50
- 5 Vigilance and Politics — 53
- 6 Conclusion — 55

Chapter 2: Habitus – Means – Worldliness — 58

- 1 Introduction: “Civilizing Processes” as Processes of Hominization — 58
- 2 Human Technicity and the Civilizing Processes — 63
- 3 Technics and Narrativity — 66
 - 3.1 Prefiguration — 67
 - 3.2 Configuration — 70
 - 3.3 Refiguration — 74
- 4 Conclusions — 77

Chapter 3: Human Capabilities in the Light of Incapabilities — 83

- 1 Introduction: A Hypothesis on the Technicity of Capabilities — 83
- 2 The Capable Human is the Incapable Human — 86
 - 2.1 Five Figures of Incapability — 87
 - 2.2 Incapability as a Practical Horizon of Action. (In)capability as a Mark of Uncertainty — 91
 - 2.3 The Capable Human is the Finite Human — 93
- 3 The Capable-Incapable Human Discloses the Technical Human — 94
 - 3.1 Misrecognition of Incapability, Practical Horizon and Primary Technicity — 95
 - 3.2 Reflection, Level of Competence and Secondary Technicity — 95
- 4 Social Theoretical Horizon — 97
- 5 Conclusion: The Technical Paradox and its Political Relevance — 100

Chapter 4: Organized Action: Agency, (In)capabilities and Means — 103

- 1 Organized Action as Part of the Technicity of Action — 103
- 2 Organized Action and the Agency of Organizations — 105
 - 2.1 Entities of Participatory Belonging and Institutions — 106
 - 2.2 Practices and the Example of Advisory Bodies — 112
 - 2.3 Social Capabilities — 114
 - 2.4 Scales of Organized Action, its Capabilities and Means — 116
- 3 Capabilities and Incapabilities of Organizations — 119
- 4 Conclusion. Paradoxes, Risks, and Political Implications of Organized Action — 124
 - 4.1 The Paradox of Organized Action — 125
 - 4.2 Organized Action in the Social Sciences — 126

Chapter 5: The Hermeneutics of Human Capabilities and the Theory of Structuration — 128

- 1 Introduction — 128

- 2 Ricœur: Individuals and Society in the Hermeneutics of the Capable Human — 131
 - 2.1 First Approach: Ricœur on Institutions — 132
 - 2.2 Second Approach: Practices Between “Basic Actions” (Danto) and “Narrative Unity of Human Life” (MacIntyre) — 140
- 3 Giddens: Individual and Society in Structuration Theory — 144
 - 3.1 Giddens: Action, the Original Sociological Problem — 144
 - 3.2 Giddens: Action and Duality of Structure – Some Specifications — 147
- 4 Conclusion: Contributions of Structuration Theory to the Hermeneutics of the Capable Human — 154

Intermediate Reflection: Tools for Critique — 159

- 1 Something Is at Stake — 159
- 2 On Critique — 160
- 3 Towards the Intricate Relations between Technicity and Ethics — 162
- 4 Working in Anticipation — 163

Part 2: Finding Compromises in Practice

Chapter 6: Of What Is “Ricœur” the Name? Or, Philosophising at the Edge — 167

- 1 What’s in a Name? — 167
- 3 “The Colonial Question” — 168
- 4 Ricœur’s Anticipation of Global Politics after Independence — 171
- 5 Ricœur’s View on the Philosophical and Cultural Critical Consequences of Decolonization — 173
 - 5.1 Interim Conclusion: Disillusioned Modernity and the Task of Hermeneutics — 177
- 6 Okolo – “Praxis Triggers the Hermeneutical Process and Gives it an Orientation” — 180
 - 6.1 Taking Stock: Engagement without Promises — 186
- 7 Conclusion: Philosophising at the Edge — 188

Chapter 7: Acts of Violence as Political Competence? From Ricœur to Mandela and Back — 191

- 1 Introduction — 191
- 2 Three Categories of Competence in Socio-political Action — 192
 - 2.1 Ricœur with and against Honneth — 193

- 2.2 A Missed Opportunity. Boltanski's Two Forms of Non-equivalence — 196
 - 3 Mandela on Sabotage and the Gradient of Violent Strategies — 200
 - 4 Elaboration: Mutual Implication of Strategy and Value — 206
 - 4.1 Entanglement with Ethics — 207
 - 4.2 Combining Strategy and Value — 208
 - 4.3 Maintaining the Perplexity — 210
 - 4.4 Responsibility in Politics and Science — 212
- Chapter 8: Justice Despite Institutions. Struggling for a Good Life from the Destitute Edge of Society — 214
- 1 Conflict and Violence in View of Justice — 217
 - 2 Violent Democracy and the Violence of the Vulnerable — 223
 - 2.1 Violent Democracy – Von Holdt's Challenge — 226
 - 2.2 Violence close to the Centres of Privilege and Violence at the “Edge” — 228
 - 3 Two Ambiguous Strategies to Further the Good Life in Violent Democracies — 229
 - 3.1 The Ambiguities of Violence at the “Edge” — 230
 - 3.2 The Ambiguities of Refraining from Violence at the “Edge” — 234
 - 4 Conclusion: Attestation of Prudence at the “Edge” — 238
 - 4.1 Conflictual Ethics: Composing Action as Prudent “Relative to us” — 238
 - 4.2 Attestation, Action, Self-confidence — 240
 - 4.3 Justice despite Institutions — 242
 - 4.4 Epilogue — 244

Conclusion

An Integrated View of the Technicity of Action and the Question of Responsibility — 247

- 1 The Technicity of Action – a Short Synthesis — 248
- 2 Ambiguity — 255
- 3 Responsibility – On the Technicity of Ethico-political Action — 259
 - 3.1 Technicity of Ethico-political Action and the Need for Normative Orientation — 261
 - 3.2 Responsibility as a Key to Thinking Action in an Era of Uncertainty — 263
 - 3.3 The Fragility of Responsibility — 267

Bibliography — 272

Author Index — 288

Subject Index — 292