

Table of Contents

1	Introduction.....	1
1.1	Practical and Theoretical Relevance	1
1.2	Research Aims and Research Questions	2
1.3	Research Setting – Governmental Incubators in Namibia	3
1.4	Thesis Structure	3
2	Conceptual Backgrounds	7
2.1	Business Incubators	7
2.1.1	Delimitation of Incubators	7
2.1.2	Organizational Structure of Incubators	8
2.1.3	Resource Dependency in Organizations	10
2.1.4	Relevant Resources of Incubators.....	12
2.2	Institutional Theory.....	14
2.2.1	Definition of Institutional Theory	14
2.2.2	‘Three Pillars of Institutions’	15
2.2.3	Institutions and Developing Countries.....	16
2.3	Absorptive Capacity & Organizational Learning.....	17
3	Formation of Preliminary Assumptions.....	23
3.1	Linking the Theoretical Concepts	23
3.2	Development of Preliminary Assumptions	25
4	Methodology	27
4.1	Research Design.....	27
4.2	Data Collection	28
4.3	Data Analysis	31
4.3.1	MAXQDA	31
4.3.2	Pre-Determined First-Degree Categories	31
4.3.3	Inductive Coding with Paraphrasing.....	33
4.3.4	Validity	33

5	Findings	35
5.1	Introduction to Bokamoso Entrepreneurial Center (BEC)	35
5.2	Relevant Resources	36
5.2.1	Organizational Resources	36
5.2.2	Technological/Physical Resources	38
5.2.3	Financial Resources	41
5.2.4	Human Resources	43
5.3	Absorptive Capacity	44
5.3.1	Prior Knowledge	44
5.3.2	Solution Knowledge	45
5.3.3	Need Knowledge	47
5.3.4	Impact of Institutional Surrounding	50
5.4	How BEC Fails to Benefit from Regional Resources	59
6	Discussion & Conclusion	65
6.1	Theoretical Contributions	65
6.2	Practical Implications	66
6.3	Limitations	67
6.4	Research Outlook	67
	Bibliography	69