

GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES ON US DEMOCRATIZATION EFFORTS

FROM THE OUTSIDE IN

Edited by Sally Burt &
Daniel Añorve Añorve

Global Perspectives
on US Democratization Efforts

Sally Burt • Daniel Añorve Añorve
Editors

Global Perspectives on US Democratization Efforts

From the Outside In

palgrave
macmillan

Editors

Sally Burt
University of New South Wales
Canberra, ACT, Australia

Daniel Añorve Añorve
Guanajuato, Gto. Col. Centro
Universidad de Guanajuato
Mexico, Guanajuato, Mexico

ISBN 978-1-137-58983-5      ISBN 978-1-137-58984-2 (eBook)
DOI 10.1057/978-1-137-58984-2

Library of Congress Control Number: 2016943726

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2016

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use. The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made.

Cover image © Prisma Bildagentur AG / Alamy Stock Photo

Printed on acid-free paper

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by Springer Nature
The registered company is Nature America Inc. New York

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We sincerely thank all those involved in the Studies of the United States Institutes (SUSI) on Foreign Relations, its ongoing facilitators, the directors and staff who operate the program, and the Department of State for funding it and allowing us to share this valuable experience in 2010. We firmly believe that these exchange opportunities and forums for discussion and mutual learning, leaders, academics and ordinary citizens are invaluable for mutual sharing and the exchange of ideas which are necessary for the betterment of society. We sincerely hope others who have the opportunity to experience the program as we did will also contribute to its goal.

We express our appreciation to the staff of the US Department of State Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, who assisted with the provision of information about the SUSI on Foreign Relations program and its participants over the years. We also received valuable assistance from Associate Professors Aida Hozic, Ido Oren and Laura Sjoberg from the Department of Political Science at the University of Florida who led the 2010 SUSI on Foreign Relations and have proved such valuable mentors and friends. We particularly appreciate their assistance with information about the program, which assisted with the writing and production of this book.

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
	Daniel Añorve Añorve and Sally Burt
Part I	US Democratization Efforts in General	11
2	US Soft Power, the Studies of the United States Institutes Program, and Democratization in US Foreign Policy (1998–2014)	13
	Daniel Añorve Añorve and Sally Burt
Part II	US Democratization Efforts in Africa	31
3	Learning from the Curve: The Obama Administration’s Promotion of Democracy in Africa	33
	Osaretin Igbinchimwen Idahosa
4	The US, Democratization, and the Postcolonial States in Sub-Saharan Africa: Development or Distortion? A Critical Appraisal	51
	Peter Sakwe Masumbe

5	US and the Democratic Process in Cameroon from 1990 to 2013	69
	David Mokam
6	Labor Standards in Trade Preference Laws Between the US and Africa	89
	Pawel Frankowski
7	The US and Democratization in Nigeria: Issues, Strategies, and Impacts	103
	Mashood Olaniyi Omotosho
Part III	US Democratization Efforts in the Middle East and the Balkans	121
8	The Fight for Libya: The Strength of Force, Not of Oil	123
	Funso Adesola
9	Effects of US Foreign Policy on Democratic Processes in the Republic of Macedonia: Between Liberalism and Realism	139
	Stojan Slaveski and Biljana Popovska
Part IV	US Democratization Efforts in Latin America	157
10	Argentina and Brazil: The Role of the US in Their Democratic Transitions	159
	Ignacio Tomás Liendo

11	The Role of the US in the Promotion of Criminal Justice Reform in Mexico: the Case of Law Schools	175
	Azul A. Aguiar-Aguilar and Jesús Ibarra-Cárdenas
12	Conclusion	197
	Daniel Añorve Añorve and Sally Burt
	Bibliography	201
	Index	219

CONTRIBUTORS

Funso Adesola is former Chairman of the Department of International Relations, Obafemi Awolowo University (OAU), Ile-Ife, Nigeria—where he obtained his PhD. He is a product of two Nigerian first-generation Universities—OAU, Ile-Ife, and University of Benin, Benin City, Nigeria. He was an Exchange Scholar in a program sponsored by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs and the US Department of State, Washington DC, and hosted by the University of Florida, Gainesville. He teaches Nigeria's foreign policy, race and ethnicity in international relations, and international relations of Africa. He is the author of International Relations: An Introductory Text, National Security in Nigeria's Relations with its Neighbours. He is currently co-editing a book called Africa in the Throes of Governance and Security. He has also published widely in reputable local and international journals. His research interests are: security studies, geopolitics, and international relations of Africa.

Azul A. Aguiar-Aguilar is Associate Professor in the Department of Law and Sociopolitical Studies at ITESO in Mexico. She teaches courses in political science, theories of democracy, rule of law, and political science methodology at ITESO, University of Guadalajara and El Colegio de Jalisco. She works in the field of Comparative Judicial Politics and her research interests and recent publications include several articles and book chapters: "Rule of Law and Political Regimes," "Justice-Sector Institutions in Transition: the Reform to the Public Prosecutor Office in Comparative Perspective," "The Role of the Mexican Electoral Tribunal in Recent Elections," and "Police Reform at the Municipal Level." She has been distinguished as a member of the National Researchers System (SNI) in Mexico.

Daniel Añorve Añorve is Professor of International Politics in the Department of Political Studies at the Universidad de Guanajuato. He also teaches at Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México. In January 2012 he was made a member of the prestigious System of National Researchers. His research interests include: Russian foreign policy, border issues, and the role of sports in international relations. He has been a visiting professor at a number of universities around Mexico, which include Universidad del Mar, El Colegio de San Luis, Universidad Autónoma de Sinaloa, and Instituto Tecnológico de Estudios Superiores Monterrey.

Sally Burt holds a PhD from the Australian National University and is an Adjunct Lecturer at the University of New South Wales, Canberra. She has taught politics, history, international relations, and strategic studies at these institutions. She has recently published a solely authored volume At the President's Pleasure: FDR's Leadership of Wartime Sino-US Relations. Burt co-edited Global Perspectives on US Foreign Policy with Daniel Añorve Añorve, which was published by Palgrave Macmillan in 2013. She was also a contributor to an edited volume Hot Spot Histories: Asia and Oceania, writing on issues of tension in China and Myanmar. She has also written journal articles and presented conference papers on Sino-US relations. Her research interests include: Sino-US relations, wartime diplomacy, the historical development of the United Nations, and US presidential leadership of diplomatic relations.

Pawel Frankowski is an Assistant Professor in the Department of International Relations and Foreign Policy at Jagiellonian University. He was, among others, State Department/Fulbright Fellow 2008—University of Florida, SCIEX Fellow 2011–2012, (Wissenschaftliche Mitarbeiter mit Dr)—University of St. Gallen, Switzerland. He currently serves as Vice-President of the Comparative Interdisciplinary Studies Section of the International Studies Association. His research interests include: US foreign policy, space security, federal studies, and regional integration. His latest book is External Policies of American States in Shaping the Foreign Policy of the United States (2014).

Jesús Ibarra-Cárdenas is Associate Professor in the Department of Law and Sociopolitical Studies at ITESO in Mexico. He holds a PhD in Public Law and Legal Method from the University of Alicante, Spain. He teaches several subjects in law and related topics at the undergraduate and postgraduate level. He has published several book chapters and journal articles on issues relating to the function of law and the legal system in Latin America. Previously he has held various positions within the Mexican judicial system and has been asked to speak on his expertise at many academic and legal society events and forums. His research interests include the legal system as it relates to democracy and rights, the judicial systems in Latin America, and Constitutional Law.

Osaretin Igbinewhen Idahosa holds a PhD in International Relations from the University of Benin in Nigeria. He is currently a lecturer in the Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Benin in Nigeria. Idahosa is also a Pastor of the Believers Church in Benin City. He is a presenter of Global Perspectives: Edo Broadcasting Service. His research interests include: Political Theory, Foreign Policy and Conflict Analysis, Inter-state Strategic Relations, International Politics and Contemporary Political Analysis, Religion and Politics, and Theories of Extremism. His recent publications include: “Nigeria: The Elites and Politics of Succession” in Benin Journal of Social Sciences, “Africom and Security in the Gulf of Guinea: In Who’s interest?” in Peace, Security, Human Rights and Development in the 21st Century (Volume 1), and “When Militants Become Terrorists: Lessons from the Niger Delta”, in H.D. Dlakwa and H.I. Bazza (eds.) in Peace, Security, Human Rights and Development in the 21st Century (Volume 2). Idahosa participated in the 2011 Study of the US Institute Program at the University of Florida.

Ignacio Tomás Liendo holds a PhD from the Instituto Universitario de Investigación Ortega y Gasset of the Universidad Complutense de Madrid (Spain). He is a full-time professor and researcher in International Relations and International Politics at Universidad Nacional de La Rioja (Argentina). His most recent publication is “Foreign Policy from a Comparative Perspective: Argentina, Brazil, and the United States” in S. Burt and D. Anorve Anorve (eds.) Global Perspectives on U.S. Foreign Policy. From the Outside In (Palgrave Macmillan, 2013). His research interests include: the foreign policy of Argentina, Brazil, and the US, as well as MERCOSUR, ALCA, the BRICS, and UNASUR.

Peter Sakwe Masumbe holds a PhD in Political Science (Public Policy/International Relations). He lectures on Introduction to African Politics, African Political and Administrative Systems, the State and the International System: Centre–Periphery Issues, Introduction to Political Economy: Global Issues, Political Parties and Elections, International Security, Public Policy and Decision-Making, Advanced Public Policy and Decision-Making, and Theories of Administration at the University of Buea, Cameroon. Masumbe has published in several referred journals and contributed book chapters. He contributed a chapter called “US Foreign Policy to Sub-Saharan African Countries: What Challenges towards Democracy, International Security and Human Development?” in S. Burt and D. Anorve Anorve (eds.) Global Perspectives on US Foreign Policy: Outside, Palgrave Macmillan, 2013. Masumbe is also a Senior Policy Analyst in the Prime Minister’s Office, Yaounde, Cameroon.

David Mokam is an Associate Professor in the Department of History at the University of Ngaoundere in Cameroon. He teaches, among other courses, History of International Relations and History of Associations and Trade-unionism in Africa. Besides his main field of research, associations and nationalism in Cameroon, he is interested in the history of democratization in Cameroon. He has published several articles, including: “The Search for a Cameroonian Model of Democracy or the Search for the Domination of the State Party: 1996–2006” (2012); “Football and the 1990’s Democratization in Africa: The Effects of the Italian World Cup on Cameroon” (2012); “Freedom under Control in Cameroon: The Case Study of the Freedom of Association from 1990 to 2011” (2014). He has participated in many conferences in Africa and North America on democracy, liberties, and human rights.

Mashood Olaniyi Omotosho Omotosho holds a PhD in Political Science from the Ahmadu Bello University in Zaria, Nigeria. He teaches International Relations at Obafemi Awolowo University in Ile-Ife, Nigeria. He was recently awarded a research grant from the American Political Science Association. He has gained external recognition by earning an academic fellowship at the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA). He also participated in the 2012 American Black History in Gainesville, Florida. Omotosho has published in peer-reviewed journals, including the African Journal of International Affairs and Development, WACSI Monograph, International Affairs Quarterly, the Journal of Legislative Studies, and Journal of History and Diplomatic Studies. His current research interests include: Conflict Management, Ethno-Religious Conflict in Sub-Saharan Africa, Democratic Governance in Sub-Saharan Africa, and Election Observation and Monitoring in the West Africa Sub-Region.

Biljana Popovska is a PhD student in International Relations and Cultural Diplomacy at the University of Bucharest, Berlin Campus (Institute for Cultural Diplomacy). She holds an MA in International Relations and Conflict Resolution from the University of St Cyril and Methodius, Skopje (2013, RM) and a Post Graduate Certificate in Language testing from the University of Lancaster (2003, UK). She is also a Marshall Center Scholar (George Marshall Center, Garmish-Partenkirchen, Germany, as visiting research fellow, 2012). Currently, she is an advisor to the Ministry of Defense of the Republic of Macedonia. She previously held positions as an EFL lecturer and a senior lecturer for 19 years at the Military Academy of the Republic of Macedonia (which is an associate member of the state university Goce Delchev, Shtip).

Stojan Slaveski is an Associate Professor at the European University of the Republic of Macedonia in Skopje. Prior to becoming a member of European University team, he was a Professor at the Military Academy in Skopje. His current research interests focus on security sector reforms, conflict resolution, regional security, national security, and European studies. He is the author of five books: The National Security of the Republic of Macedonia and Euro-Atlantic Integrations, (co-author) European Union Through the Prism of European Security, (co-author)